

Hair origin refers to the original state of hair before any chemical processing such as coloring or texturing is performed, and is distinguishable by subtle to pronounced differences. Hair origins are chemically altered to achieve various straight to curly hair textures. All of our hair is remy, which means the cuticle layers face the same direction, which minimizes tangling and shedding.

MsLola LLC offers the following virgin origins: Indian, Chinese, Malaysian, Brazilian and European.

Note: Wigs and hair units made with pure virgin origins last longer because they are the original hair of the donor and have not been chemically altered with coloring or texturizing.

Indian Virgin is the origin from which Indian Remy hair is derived. This hair origin is most popular because the hair is plentiful, relatively inexpensive, can be colored and permed with curls or waves and the hair will retain its tensile quality, which enables the wig to last sometimes for years.

Chinese Virgin is the origin from which Chinese Remy hair is derived. This hair origin is also very popular because the hair is very strong and can withstand double processing with texture plus very light coloring.

Malaysian, Brazilian, and European origins are the Rolls Royce of hair.

Malaysian hair is dark brown with warm brown natural tones. Asian in origin, the hair is strong and silky, which makes it a good choice for wavy and curly textures, as well as light coloring.

Brazilian hair is dark brown to black. It is also strong, with a less shiny appearance. It is a good choice for yaki or coarse textures. Also colors well.

European hair is soft, lightweight and reddish in color. It is a good choice for Caucasian wigs because the hair is airy and easy to process with coloring and wavy or textures. Also a good choice for anyone who prefers lighter weight hair.

Gorgeous but hard to acquire, each origin offer versatility for customizing your medical wig or hair unit.

Hair Textures

Hair textures are created by altering virgin hair origins. Permanent wave solution, bleach and hair dyes are the chemical agents used to process various textures. When choosing a texture for your wig or hair unit, remember that double chemical processes such as curls and light coloring naturally weakens the hair, therefore consider the strongest origins for the best results.

Note: Wigs and hair units made with pure virgin origins last longer because they are the original hair of the donor and have not been chemically altered with coloring or texturizing.
